

Three Decades of Excellence

Vox and its management team is proud to have served the Canadian business application market since the early 1980's and spanning over three decades. Our focus has been and continues to be the application of best business practices, leading edge technology solutions, and a commitment to on-going support services in order to help our clients remain competitive and improve their operational performance and profitability.

1980's

- CEO, Jim Heaton and President, Philip Landow pictured in the 1980's receiving an award for outstanding business performance.

1990's

- CEO, Jim Heaton receiving an award in the 1990's for the Infor VISUAL Business Partner of the Year.

2000's

- CEO, Jim Heaton, and team receiving an award in the 2000's for Microsoft Business Partner of the Year.

